NOTES

British Drama

The inter-war period is often seen as the hey-day of British farce with the Aldwych farces of Ben Travers, many of which were made into films that made the reputations of actors such as Ralph Lynn and Robertson Hare. Will Hay was another star from that period, unfortunately neglected today. This month's play, "Where There's a Will", was written by Hay who also plays the lead, and was due to be shown in December but delayed because of emergency repairs needed to my water supply.

Local History

Domesday Book gives a glimpse of Cornish society in the eleventh century. We'll look at how Cornwall differed from elsewhere in England and any light Domesday throws on Cornwall earlier during the dark ages.

Book Club

The choice this month is "The Girl with the Polka Dot Dress" by Beryl Bainbridge. This is widely regarded as one of her best books, full of dark humour and suspense.

Monthly Meeting

Roger Hooper has talked before on birds and this month he talks on butterflies. An officer in the Cornwall Branch of 'Butterfly Conservation', Roger is not only a charismatic and entertaining speaker but has also taken some stunning wildlife photographs, whose work has appeared in many exhibitions, books and WWF publications. He's definitely the antidote to a dull January day!

Margaret's Meander

Margaret's first meander of 2019 will be to the Royal Cornwall Museum, Truro on Tuesday 15th January. Entrance costs £6 (or £12 for an annual pass). Please meet her in the museum cafe at 11am.

Italian Conversation

Join us for conversation in frequently stumbling, infrequently fluent but always enthusiastic Italian with a native Italian speaker. Much laughter guaranteed! Buon Natale e Felice Capodanno.

Luncheon Club

We start the year at the Plume of Feathers, Portscatho.
